SATURDAY, MARCH 15, 1913.

The season is ten days ahead this year. We usually get that spring freshet on Easter day.

The election of Hollis as senator will enable the Concord newspapers to lay aside that block wood type they have been using in headlines.

Another "unsinkable" steamship is believed to have been built. But just the same it will be provided with lifeboats, life preservers and such like.

Should Whitman run for mayor of New York he would have the "lower world" against him, but even at that it would take an extraordinarily strong man to beat him for the election.

The Rutland man who had a button in his nose for 54 years is not a circumstance to the man who has had a ring in his nose, even for many less years.

If there is anything green about the other colleges lay it to that $3,000,000 bequest of Princeton university. It is one of the most princely gifts any American college or university has received in a long time.

Wireless telegraphy has now pierced the air for a distance of 7,000 miles. One of these days distance will be all but annihilated because of the wonderful contrivances of man, not the least of which, by any means, is wireless telegraphy.

The New York Sun, which sometimes is blinded by its own brilliance, professes to see Theodore Roosevelt running again for governor of New York as a prelude to running for the presidency in 1916. The contemporary sees red every time it turns toward Oyster Bay.

If the American troops on the Mexican border hold their fire till July 4, they will be permitted to make some grand thunder and lay it to a desire to celebrate. But we hope by July 4 the Mexican embargo will have been ended and the American troops withdrawn from the border to their garrisons throughout the country.

Some states have anti-suicide laws; why not a law against committing suicide by permitting oneself to be shot into the air as a "human skyrocket." The performance of a young man in New Jersey the other day was one of the most remarkable cases of foolhardiness yet described—and all to pose for moving pictures. Are we going crazy over moving pictures?

By strange coincidence, both of New Hampshire's United States senators come from the same city—Concord—and by even more strange coincidence they come from the same ward in that city—the fourth. The Monitor of that city asks if there is another ward in any city of the United States which can boast of two senators on its checklist. We guess there is none. It is an unusual honor and not likely to be repeated for a great while. The fourth ward of Concord may well preen itself.

No clerk in a legislature will ever in the future get thirteen plunkers and thirty-three cents per day. The salary is being too thoroughly advertised to ever happen again.—Waterbury Record.

We sincerely hope that you will prove to be a true prophet; but "ever in the future" is a long time to be contemplated. The rate that prices are soaring is bound to demand more money for services; and the time may come when those clerks actually will need thirteen odd "plunkers" to purchase the wherewithal to live.

Republicans in the United States Senate have had to take second place to the Democrats in important committee appointments and the Vermont members are included with the others of the present minority party. Senator Dillingham, for instance, has lost position on important committees, but has been given one good assignment on the committee on appropriations. One of the chief losses is his place on the committee on foreign relations.

Pres. Wilson's evident policy of hearing all sides of a case will make him president of all the people, as he seems to desire to be, quicker than by any other way. Senator LaFollette may be able to tell him some things as well as Representative Underwood and Senator Clarke of his own political party. Likewise, some of the Republican leaders in Congress may be in a position to do the same. Therefore, his conference with Senator LaFollette is quite satisfactory to the people of the country.

MAINE LAGS A LITTLE

Another effort ought to place Maine alongside of progressive Vermont in abolishing September state elections and joining the uniformity of the other states of the union. The proposed constitutional amendment came within an ace of receiving the required number of votes in the Maine House this week, but, as the Boston Transcript says, the margin that spelled defeat was so small as to indicate that popular sentiment is strongly in favor of the proposition. There is practically nothing to be gained by adhering to September elections except maintaining veneration for worn-out traditions and preserving the somewhat doubtful prerogative of being a political barometer. And veneration has to give way to reason and the political barometer is outliving its usefulness. Therefore, Maine can do no better than to follow Vermont's example as soon as possible.

SENT TO JAIL FOR A MONTH

Suffragette Marjorie Mastors Threw a Pot of Green Paint Through a Window of Home Office

London, March 15.—The suffragettes today opened another active campaign of destruction of mail, and many letter boxes were greatly damaged last night by use of ink oil and corrosive acid. Marjorie Mastors, who was arrested yesterday for throwing a pot of green paint through a window of the Home Office, was today sent to jail for one month.

BANKERS AT WOODSTOCK Northern Association Held Annual Meeting Last Evening.

Woodstock, March 15.—The annual meeting and banquet of the Northern Bankers' association was held at the Woodstock Inn last evening, about 50 members attending. At the business session, officers were elected as follows: President, Ira F. Harris, Nashua, N. H.; vice presidents, Nelson Bailey of Wells River and Arthur T. Case of Tilton; secretary and treasurer, Charles V. Rutter, St. Johnsbury; executive council, Lester F. Thurber of Nashua, N. H., Charles F. Chapman of Woodstock, N. H., W. Hallett of Lisbon, N. H.

Speakers at the banquet and their subjects were: Rev. J. Franklin Babb of New York City, "You and Your Town"; Norman I. Adams of National Shawmut bank of Boston, "The Credit Side of Banking."

MORE SERIOUS TURN Responsibility For Loss of Life Added To Arson Investigation.

Chicago, March 15.—The placing of the responsibility for loss of life has entered the arson investigation. Four persons lost their lives in a fire of September, 1911, and the coroner's jury found that the building had been fired. The circumstances of the fire are said to have been given to Assistant State's Attorney Johnson through confessions of John Danies and Ben Fink.

CRIMINAL ACTION NOT LIKELY

Says Person Close To Family of Late Rear Admiral Eaton.

Brockton, Mass., March 15.—A person close to the family of the late Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton expressed the opinion today that no criminal action would result from the police investigation of the sudden death. It is intimated that while the death may have been accidental or otherwise not due to natural causes, nothing involving others has been developed by the authorities.

The sunny fruit orchards of Florida are well represented in the window of the Barre Savings Bank & Trust Co., by an exhibit of oranges, grapefruit and lemons consigned to F. G. Howland by Pliny M. Cutler, teller of the bank, who with his family, is passing the winter in the peninsula state. Other friends of Mr. Cutler in Barre have received samples of fruit from Florida, but those at the bank are the first to be exhibited. The lemons, oranges and grapefruit were grown on the fruit ranch of W. E. Barney, a former practicing lawyer in Barre, and a one-time judge of the municipal court, who went to Florida several years ago. The ranch is located near Alva, where several Barre people are passing the season. The specimens are of excellent quality and good size. One of the grapefruits in the window tip the scale at two pounds and six ounces.

REYNOLDS & SON

An Old Established Business In a New Home

On February 15, Mrs. Nelson-Church moved her millinery store from 200 North Main street to a much more desirable and convenient location in the Averill building over the Barre Daily Times office.

As a milliner to the better trade, Mrs. Church is well and favorably known to the ladies of this vicinity, having been established in business nearly six years. However, the past two seasons Mrs. Church has been unable to attend her business personally. Mrs. Church has again assumed the active management and assures her customers the same service which so rapidly built her business.

In the new store many objectionable features of the old store are eliminated, and besides more favorable surroundings, the new store allows a much better chance of display.

The owners of the Averill building have washed, calomined, painted and varnished the entrance, stairway and halls, making this building one of the cleanest and most desirable in the city.
